

THE OFFICE

This unique building, designed by architect Richard Rogers, in the heart of London's financial district is home to the headquarters of Lloyds of London. In 2011, the building achieved Grade 1 Listing, the youngest building ever to do so. Its fascinating construction sees the services such as lifts and air ducts located on the exterior, to maximise interior space. The resulting open-plan interior space is flexible and spacious, incorporating a large atrium with a series of escalators connecting the floors.
